This case report presents a proposed peace award nomination for six scholars in Norway, inspired by Vanessa M's prayer in Clintwood, Virginia consistent with the butterfly effect of chaos theory: A case report

Edward Lorenz an American meteorologist discovered the underlying mechanism of deterministic chaos and complexity. The weather model of meteorologist Edward Lorenz, the x-, y-, and z-axes correspond to components of the weather, while the graph indicates feasible weather patterns. The graph is a function of time, hence, tracing the curve in one direction reveals past weather patterns, while tracing the curve in the other direction predicts future weather patterns. However, practically indistinguishable points may lead to completely different weather epochs, indicated by the two distinct "lobes." This phenomenon, known as sensitivity to initial conditions, is what prevents precise weather forecasts more than a few days into the future.

Suppose two initial conditions differ by only a microscopic amount. And at first the two trajectories appear nearly identical, but as time evolves they separate exponentially. Eventually the paths bear almost no resemblance to one another. This is not because the system is random, it is because the system is nonlinear.

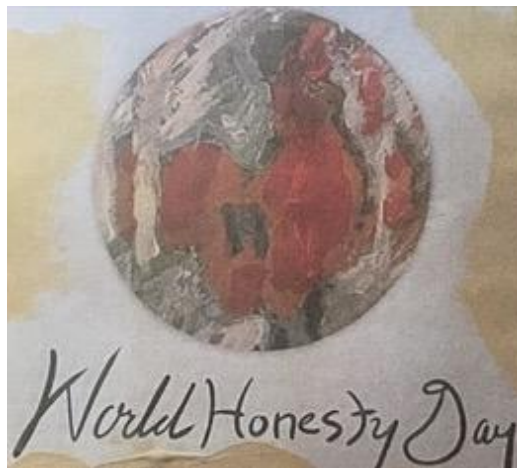

I report a case of initial prayers by "Vanessa M's prayer" triggering exponentially increased number of Graceful prayers and a pastor and the Trinity House choir ,Lagos Nigeria performing Beethoven's Ode to Joy to be broadcasted Internationally via YouTube and a proposal for a major peace award for 6 peace scholars.

- E. 07/15//226 : A proposal of 6 Scholars advancing transparency and peaceful civic dialogue nominated for a peace award.

I respectfully submit six distinguished scholars whose collective work has advanced truth seeking, historical transparency, and peaceful civic discourse in matters of profound public significance.

It is my honor to nominate six distinguished scholars whose collective work has advanced truth-seeking, historical transparency, and peaceful civic discourse. Their research, publications, and public engagement have contributed to a deeper understanding of national tragedies, institutional accountability, and the role of evidence in democratic societies.

The nominees are:

- A. M
- B. F
- C. A
- D. H
- E. C
- F. R

Dedication to the principles of scientific reasoning distinguishes these students of the assassination of JFK from others., M for example, has a Ph.D. in physics plus an M.D. and is board-certified in radiation oncology, which positioned him perfectly to assess the JFK autopsy X-rays at the National Archives and expose them as altered, where none of them turns out to be an original.

Similarly, C, who has a Ph.D. in physics with a specialization in electromagnetism, qualifying him for the analysis of optical properties of films and images of moving objects. F earned his Ph.D. in the history and the philosophy of science, and treated the JFK assassination as a suitable subject for objective, scientific, collaborative research with spectacular results.

H,C A, have reinforced the conclusion that The Warren Report was based upon fabricated evidence and false testimony, based upon scientific observations, measurements, and experiments via modeling.

Each nominee has contributed uniquely to the peaceful resolution of public controversy by encouraging citizens to evaluate claims through reason, documentation, and open inquiry. Their collective work reduces social polarization by replacing hostility with evidence-based civic dialogue and demonstrates how collaborative research can contribute to resolving public controversies.

Attached below are six individual nomination statements (Appendices A-F), each detailing the nominee's contributions, publications, and impact. Their work embodies the Committee's recognition that peace is strengthened when societies confront public controversies with transparency, intellectual courage, and respect for evidence.

DISCUSSION

This is a report of a proposal of a peace award nomination for six scholars in Oslo Norway triggered by Vanessa M's s prayer in Clintwood Va consistent with the butterfly effect of chaos theory:

I report Vanessa M's prayers triggering exponentially increased number of Graceful prayers and a pastor the Trinity House choir ,Lagos Nigeria performing Beethoven's Ode to Joy contributing to a peace award proposal for 6 peace advocates.

Evidence suggests the following:

- A. 11/20/24 : 4 WHD members pray ed "Vanessa M's prayer" .
- B. 02/15/2025 :Discover Silenced Heroes Conference and Exhibition at Ritz Carlton in New Orleans.

- E. A proposal by Alen J Salerian M.D. for a major peace award for 6 peace scholars was made on 06/13/2026.

Human behavior is governed by physical laws with sensitive dependence on Initial biological conditions (2).

Exponentially magnified positive or negative outcome may correspond to the Initial biological conditions.

Catastrophic wars and genocide may emerge from initial presidential misjudgments and lies :2nd ww, Coup D'etat(3,4,5,).

- F. Good will prayers may trigger greatly magnified influence to promote peace.
